Become a recognised employment partner of Anglia Ruskin University and help to shape the future of graduate employment.

The Employment Bureau, Anglia Ruskin University’s on campus recruitment hub is launching an innovative new partnership scheme to encourage employers and students to collaborate on a paid project, while students study.

We are looking for local employers to work with us to help students prepare for graduate employment through a paid work placement.

Features:

- Our employer partners identify a business problem or project they want help with
- We screen and shortlist students from a relevant course of study and match them to the employer
- The employer decides the assignment length and working hours (from 2 to 12+ weeks)
- We manage the recruitment and pre-employment checks as well as payroll process
- The student begins work and we recognise the employer as an ARU employment partner.
